What might the other two cohorts have assumed was 'the right thing to do' to mitigate the ethical concerns? The second half of the session, we will invite representatives from each cohort to present their perspectives "in role," as though they were presenting to a corporate board or management team, deliberating how to put something in place to best to anticipate and address possible ethical issues in advance. What could be done to decide when something should be done and who should act? Make sure to address what your professional cohort can do (rather than put the job on other professions to act).
