10:30 – 11:45am	Breakout Sessions Current events have deeply divided and challenged us. This has only been heightened and exacerbated by October 7 and the ensuing conflict, which has thrust us all into a landscape of intense emotion, grief, anger, conflicted understandings, and in many cases, deeply personal, deeply entrenched certainties. As professionals, as people of influence who are deeply concerned with doing what is ethical, we want to be able to engage in productive discourse, to advance understanding	Breakout Rooms: Frick 181 Frick 224 Frick 324 Frick 381

	and seek ethically sound resolutions. These interdisciplinary sessions will provide space to explore both how individual professionals can navigate deeply opposing viewpoints, and to advance our understanding of professional ethical responsibilities in response to these challenges.
