2:45-3:00pm	Coffee Break
3:00-4:15pm	Session 17: When Care is Restrained: Professional Responsibility Under Pressure (Marianne Green, Bob Truog) When hospitals withdraw gender-affirming care for minors in response to political and financial pressures, clinicians are forced to navigate competing obligations to patients, institutions, and society. This session explores how professionals make decisions when evidence is evolving, choices are constrained, and the stakes are high. Through the lenses of complicity and Spielraum fellows will examine what it means to act responsibly—and where ethical responsibility lies—when systems shape and limit care.	Location: Historical Museum (Rynek Główny 35, 31-011 Kraków, Poland)
4:15-4:30pm	Coffee Break
4:30-5:45pm	Session 18: Between Oath and Orders: A Physician at War (Marianne Green, Bob Truog) This session explores how professionals navigate ethical conflict when expectations of obedience and claims of loyalty come into tension. A military physician must decide whether to leave his base—temporarily abandoning responsibility for 1,000 Marines—to care for an injured child in a remote village. At stake is not only what he should do, but to whom he owes allegiance—and how far obedience to institutional roles should extend.	Location: Historical Museum (Rynek Główny 35, 31-011 Kraków, Poland)
6:00 - 7:30pm	Dinner	Location: Le Grande Mamma (Rynek Główny 26, 31-008 Kraków, Poland)
