

Mia is FASPE's Senior Development Manager, overseeing the organization's fundraising operations and strategy. She brings extensive experience in donor relations, event planning, institutional and corporate partnerships, grant writing, and strategic planning. Mia began her nonprofit career in Vermont and Texas, working across food access, hunger relief, and nutrition education initiatives, and most recently fundraised for workforce development programming in New York City.

She holds a B.A. from the University of Vermont and lives in Brooklyn with her beloved cat, Bill